Norman and Singletary returned to commission

Tammy Jackson

Pahokee voters went to the polls Tuesday and re-elected incumbents John Norman and Roy Singletary to the city commission. With the election behind him, Comm. Norman can now concentrate on his seventh term on the commission. Comm. Singletary will now serve his sixth term.

Comm. Norman defeated Alvis Davis 395 to 231. During his campaign, Mr. Davis said if he was elected to the commission, he would donate his $4,800 salary to the city employees.

Comm. Norman, 38, said he would continue to work to bring industry to the city. He said the city has seen some tremendous highs and lows. He said the city now seems to be in a rebound stage. "Pahokee is on the verge of change," he said recently. "It's not the same old, same old."

First elected to the commission in 1985, Comm. Norman said within the last few months, the commission has been able to get businesses interested in the Pahokee area. He does admit the fact that the city had been slowly losing businesses.

With city employees unable to get a raise this year, the commissioner said he hopes money can be squeezed from the budget to give to the employees.

He also said he wants to see picnic pavilions constructed at the Pahokee Marina.

Comm. Norman is employed by Everglades Regional Medical Center as a chemistry lab supervisor. He and his wife have one son.

Mr. Davis has been unsuccessful in his bid for the city commission six times.

Comm. Singletary, 60, easily defeated political newcomer Stanleigh J. Russ. Comm. Singletary took 85.6 percent of the votes while Mr. Russ was only able to get 14.4 percent of the votes.

Comm. Singletary based his entire campaign on the positive things that were happening in the city. At the on-set of the campaign, the commissioner said, "I'm going to run a clean campaign and let my record speak for itself."

"Pahokee is on the verge of being a good town," said the commissioner. "I want to see the growth of Pahokee."

Agreeing with Comm. Norman, Comm. Singletary also said he will work for more money for the city employees. During commission meetings, Comm. Singletary continuously looks for means of giving the employees a raise.

Comm. Singletary said he is also interested in developing the campground area more.

Comm. Singletary is the owner of a television repair shop in the city. Married to Elsie, Mr. Singletary is the father of grown children.

Local man shot and killed during robbery

Tammy Jackson
Staff Reporter

Palm Beach County Sheriff's Deputies and Detectives are searching for two black males wanted in connection with the shooting death of a Hispanic male.

Jesús Monroy, 35, was shot Friday night at the Lake Breeze Trailer Park. According to PBSO Detective Lee Sands, a 17-year-old Hispanic male was identified by witnesses as the suspect who shot and killed Monroy.

Another victim, Aristio Espinosa, was with Monroy. He said two black males approached them with handguns and demanded money. According to reports, Espinosa ran "in fear of his life." The suspects shot at Espinosa but he was not injured.

The 17-year-old Hispanic male has been charged with first-degree murder and two counts of armed robbery with a firearm. The two black males are still at large and the investigation is continuing.

U.S. House Ag Committee hears testimony on sugar

By Brenda Bunting
Editor

Strong support for sugar was shown by more than 1,000 farmers, school children, members of civic groups and public officials as they gathered at the Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center last Thursday for a congressional field hearing on the 1995 Farm Bill.

The field hearing was hosted by U.S. Rep. Mark Foley, (R-FL) who brought two of his colleagues from the House Agricultural Subcommittee on Risk Management and Specialty Crops. The topics were fruit and vegetables, but the main focus of testimony was from sugar interests, who fear the new Republican majority in Congress will eliminate the sugar price support system which growers say protects American farmers from unfair trade practices by foreign governments.

A similar hearing for the House Subcommittee on Livestock, Dairy and Poultry held in Okeechobee the previous night was attended by about 150 people.

Children lined the driveway up to the Dolly Hand as the congressmen entered the grounds. They stood waving small American flags and stood beside panels depicting children's handprints. Glades Central High School's band played and sugar supporters held up signs in support of an industry which employs over 420,000 people nationwide.

Cong. Foley, Rep. Karen Thurman and House Agricultural Chairman Thomas W. Ewing listened to five hours of testimony at the Dolly Hand. Representatives from Cong. Charles Canady and Cong. Alcee Hastings office were also in attendance.

Testimony was divided into five panels and the first panel to speak was made up of Florida Department of Agriculture Commissioner Bob Crawford; Chairman of the Florida Senate Agriculture Committee, Sen. Bill Engvall; and U.S. Sen. Bill Nelson.

Justification given for continuing the U.S. Sugar Program

- Points made by the panelists during the five-hour hearing included:
- The national Sugar Policy protects farmers from unfair competition from foreign governments which subsidize their farmers.
  - The national sugar policy is operated at no cost to the taxpayer. It is not a subsidy. No payments are made by the government to farmers. In fact, assessments charged by the government bring the U.S. Treasury more than $30 million each year.
  - Besides European farmers, the only people who will benefit from the unilateral elimination of the American sugar policy will be companies like Mars, Hersheys, M & M, Coke and the makers of cereals and cakes. These companies have raised prices steadily for years and never lowered them when the price of sugar dropped. They are the loudest critics of the national sugar policy because they would receive a billion dollar a year windfall if American farmers were put out of business. Coke pays its chief executive officer $80 million a year. The heads of the other candy companies are among the richest people in the world.
  - The sugar industry, including cane, corn and beet sugar, provides 420,000 jobs nationwide. The Florida sugar cane production represents a $2 billion a year economic impact and accounts for 60,000 jobs in Florida. Eliminating the national Sugar Policy without corresponding action by governments overseas will cripple and put thousands of people in this area out of work.

Police make arrests in burglaries at a business and a residence

Brenda Bunting
Editor

Sometimes, the good guys win.

Several officers at the Belle Glade Police Department are pleased this week that they were able to make arrests in various burglaries around the city.

The most dramatic was a burglary in progress at the home of William and Betty Thiebaud of 816 N.W. Fourth Street. Mrs. Thiebaud called police Monday afternoon about 4:15 p.m. after she returned home from shopping and found a man in her house.

She said she ran out of the house and called police who responded immediately. When Patrolman William Hudak and Det. Kevin Kuschell arrived, Mrs. Thiebaud was able to give a detailed description of the man. A short time later, Patrolman Hudak saw a man matching the description in the 700 block of West Canal Street South, Belle Glade.

Officer Hudak stopped the man, Anthony Bernard Jones, 23, of Belle Glade. Jones was armed with a .22 calibre handgun. Jones was later identified by Mrs. Thiebaud as the man she said was inside her home earlier.

Jones was charged with armed burglary of a residence, carrying a concealed firearm, possession of a firearm by a convicted felon, and grand theft with a firearm. He was taken to the Palm Beach County Jail where he is being held without bond while awaiting trial.

The next day, May 2, police responded to an activated burglar alarm at the Drawbridge Cafe, on West Lake Road, Belle Glade. When they arrived they found the restaurant had been burglarized. The man had gained entry by breaking out a window on the southwest corner of the building at just before 3 p.m.

Patrolman John Owens and his K-9 "Henny" were summoned to the scene by Patrolman Kevin Polmar and Det. William Ward. Officer Owens and K-9 Henny were able to track a man who was hiding in the adjacent golf course. Arrested was Rayford Martin, 51, of 1108 West Canal Street South, Belle Glade.

Police say Martin has an extensive past criminal history for burglary and burglary related offenses. He was charged with burglary to a business and taken to the Palm Beach County Jail where he is being held without bond while awaiting trial.

Local family honored for their personal commitment as Red Cross volunteers

The Palm Beach County Chapter of the American Red Cross held its annual meeting on Wednesday, April 19, at the Palm Beach Hotel in Palm Beach. The annual meeting is held to elect members to the Board of Directors and to recognize outstanding volunteer achievements.

As an organization created and led by volunteers, the awards ceremony is always one of the highlights of the annual meeting. The Palm Beach County Chapter presented awards to volunteers who have demonstrated extraordinary personal commitment to the mission of the American Red Cross and who have consistently exceeded the requirements of their volunteer positions.

The Richard Turner West County Service Center Award was presented to the Murray family. In presenting this award, it was said the Murray family is an entire family of dedicated volunteers. The mother, Helen, serves on the West County Advisory Committee and then Stephanie, Amanda, and Christopher are always available to help.

During the recent Belle Glade mercury contamination, the Murrys worked many tireless hours. They scrubbed pots and pans, served meals to workers and to families. They never say, "no" or "I can't".

Mrs. Murray continues to work with others on the West County Advisory Board to make the service center even better. Stephanie and Amanda have completed training in Mass Care and are working for placement as members of the Disaster Action Team.

Study shows weather forecasting has improved

By Mike Lyons

Sometimes forecasting the weather in Florida is no fun. I can spend hours looking at charts, satellite pictures, Doppler radars and enough computer data to make a hard drive cringe and it still doesn't help.

The forecast of "sunny skies and mild temperatures" has somehow been transformed into a steady rain with gusty winds. No wonder my hair is turning gray.

After a frustrating day at the weather office I'm often reminded of an old weather saying: only a fool would try to forecast the weather in Florida.

Chances are weather forecasters in other parts of the country know that same forecast frustration as well as I do. Predicting tomorrow's weather is much more difficult to predict than weather in other locales. The main reason it is tougher here is our location. Our tropical climate, the intense sunshine and being nearly surrounded by water all combine to make Florida's weather sometimes unpredictable.

During my career I've predicted snow storms in Wisconsin, cold waves in Michigan, tornadoes in Kansas and hurricanes in Texas but Florida is my biggest challenge.

In 1991, the American Meteorological Society examined forecasts from around the country to see how accurate we are. As you might suspect, short-term forecasting (under 12 hours) was found to be the most accurate. In the words of the AMS, forecasts up to 12 hours "show considerable skill and utility."

From 12 to 48 hours, the AMS study found that we do well particularly with large storms. While we can't say exactly where or when a severe storm might develop, the study found that forecasters do a good job of predicting which areas will be threatened as much as 48 hours ahead of time.

We're getting much better at forecasting severe storms, too. The National Weather Service is currently installing Doppler radar's around the country. We've got two in our area: Melbourne and Miami. Doppler radar's show meteorologists where tornadoes may be developing.

The study surprised many people with its finding on long-term forecasting. Three to five day forecasts were found to be fairly accurate. In fact, the study said "generally, five-day forecasts now are as accurate as three-day forecasts a decade ago." The study showed that large storms or major cold waves in particular can be predicted very accurately up to five days.

After five days, however, it gets tougher and tougher to come up with an accurate forecast. The AMS study discovered that forecasts for six to ten day periods "are not that accurate." I look for trends when I'm forecasting for a long-term period. Will it warm up next week or remain cool? I don't try to predict actual temperatures.

Overall, the study said that weather forecasters are getting better and better at their job. We still make mistakes because Mother Nature is often full of surprises but today's forecasts are more accurate than 10 years ago.

And, ten years from now, we'll be doing an even better job. Of course, by then, my hair will be completely gray.

COULD YOU BE PASSIVE OR ACTIVE?
 If your PPD or skin test for Tuberculosis (TB) was "positive", what would that mean? A red, raised area on the skin test site (usually on the inner forearm) within 48 hours to 72 hours after the test was performed would indicate a positive reaction. If nothing is visible where the skin test was done, then the result is negative.

During the five years I was an elementary school nurse for more than 1,200 students in Hendry County, we did our fair share of TB testing. One of the most important things that parents can do for their kids, is to sign that consent form and allow them to be tested for TB. After all, how else would you know if anyone in the classroom was infected?

Testing positive for TB means that at some time in your life you came in contact with TB germs. Because TB is spread through the air, you can get the germs from being around a person with TB who coughs, sneezes, laughs, or sings. A positive reaction means that you have the germ that causes TB in your body. It DOESN'T necessarily mean that you are sick or that you have TB disease. In fact, you could feel perfectly fine.

If you test positive for TB, then you will need to take a chest x-ray, and possibly a sputum test. These tests will determine which kind of TB you have, passive TB infection or active TB disease. Let's further explain the differences.

In passive TB you have the germ that causes TB inside your body. You are not sick because the germ is active. You cannot spread the germ to others. You may develop TB disease in the future. You may receive medicine to prevent TB disease.

Passive TB infection rarely develops into active TB disease, which can cause damage to the lungs and other parts of the body, such as the brain, kidneys, or the spine. It can also lead to death. In the world today, there are about 1.7 billion people who have passive TB. In the USA, about 15 million have tested positive. Of all these people, only 10 percent will develop active TB.

If you develop active TB you are sick from the TB germs that are active in your body. You may have chest pains, coughing, weight loss, fever, and night sweats. You can spread the TB germs to other people just by being near them and spreading droplets by coughing, laughing, singing, etc. You must take medicines, exactly as prescribed, to cure the TB.

This is one of the most important things you can do towards your good health. It is very important to take all medicine for as long as it takes to kill the TB germs, even if you don't feel sick. If you don't take all the medicine, the TB germs in your body will learn how the medicine works and outsmart it. Then, those medicines will no longer work at killing the TB germs. When this happens, people develop a condition that is called MDR-TB, or multi-drug resistant TB. Unfortunately many people with active TB are what we nurses call non-compliant. They don't make the effort to go to the local health department to pick up the FREE drugs, or they simply quit taking them, thereby becoming a great health threat to everyone around them. If you know someone with TB, strongly encourage them to see a doctor and to keep taking the medicine!

Until next time... stay informed and stay healthy.

Two arrested for burglary

An officer who stopped to question two suspicious men in the 2400 block of N.E. Avenue L, Belle Glade later arrested both for burglary to a business and grand theft.

Patrolman Michael Debetta stopped to question the two men about 12:30 a.m. April 27, as they were walking on Airport Road. Wesley Ray Dorle, 20 of Belle Glade and a 17-year-old juvenile told Officer Debetta their car had broken down in the 200 block of N.E. Avenue L. Officer Debetta drove to where the men's car was parked and began checking the area. He found eight new ties hidden in the bushes near the auto.

Patrolman Debetta and Officer Michael Triplett investigated and found that the ties had been stolen from vehicles at Glades Ford at 525 N.W. Avenue L.

The ties were valued at about $1,000. When questioned, Dorle and the juvenile confessed to stealing the ties. They were charged with burglary to a business and grand theft. The juvenile was released to his parents and Dorle was taken to the Palm Beach County Jail without bond.

Testimony

tural Committee Charles Williams; and Pahokee Mayor Ramon Horta.

Mayor Horta gave his views as a businessman in a small town dependent upon sugar. "I cannot stress enough the economic impact that agriculture and the U.S. sugar policy has on my town." He drew a round of applause when he added, "If we can't get through to this committee today, I can guarantee you, we will personally drive to Washington and knock some sense into this Congress."

Ag. Chairman Tom Ewing (R-IL) told the crowd the issues are not easy and his committee had to be a part of reducing the federal budget by $15 million over the next five years. "For the sugar industry, this means a fight for your survival," he said.

Revisions for the 1995 farm bill should be finished by late summer or early fall, according to Cong. Ewing, who told one of the panels, "We need solid industry reform proposals from sugar."

Lee C. Polopolus, professor of Food and Resource Economics for the University of Florida, told the committee the U.S. sugar market has been influenced by national legislation since 1789.

"Our federal sugar policy has been predicated on the premise that the United States cannot carry out its policies oblivious to what the world community is doing with respect to sugar prices and markets."

"In effect, our federal sugar policy is a response to the way sugar is treated throughout the world, that is with government intervention. To do otherwise would place the United States at the mercy of an uncertain, volatile and meaningless 'world market,'" he said.

Mr. Polopolus said the U.S. Sugar Policy operates at no cost to the U.S. taxpayer. "Since 1934, surplus of U.S. treasury revenues over sugar policy costs have exceeded $600 million. Policy service fees generate approximately $30 million annually for the federal government. In addition, the federal government collects tariffs on imported sugar."

"Contrary to many press reports and misinformation

widely circulated, domestic sweetener producers do not receive government gifts or grants under the sugar policy for producing or marketing sugar and corn sweeteners. The so-called 'sugar subsidy' is purely a myth," he said.

He also told the committee that the price of sugar has been reasonable and stable for over a decade and when adjusted for inflation, the real price of sugar has fallen over the same period.

The loan rate for sugar has been set at the minimum level of 18 cents per pound for sugar cane growers since 1985. Thus, sugar growers have had to increase their production and processing efficiency over the past decade in order to survive in a market environment of decreasing real prices.

Copies of the testimonies were taken back to Washington by those House Agricultural members present so the full committee can study them before making their decisions on farm policy.

Testimony

tural Committee Charles Williams; and Pahokee Mayor Ramon Horta.

"Mayor Horta gave his views as a businessman in a small town dependent upon sugar. I cannot stress enough the economic impact that agriculture and the U.S. sugar policy has on my town." He drew a round of applause when he added, "If we can't get through to this committee today, I can guarantee you, we will personally drive to Washington and knock some sense into this Congress."

Ag. Chairman Tom Ewing (R-IL) told the crowd the issues are not easy and his committee had to be a part of reducing the federal budget by $15 million over the next five years. "For the sugar industry, this means a fight for your survival," he said.

Revisions for the 1995 farm bill should be finished by late summer or early fall, according to Cong. Ewing, who told one of the panels, "We need solid industry reform proposals from sugar."

Leo C. Polopolus, professor of Food and Resource Economics for the University of Florida, told the committee the U.S. sugar market has been influenced by national legislation since 1789.

"Our federal sugar policy has been predicated on the premise that the United States cannot carry out its policies oblivious to what the world community is doing with respect to sugar prices and markets."

"In effect, our federal sugar policy is a response to the way sugar is treated throughout the world, that is with government intervention. To do otherwise would place the United States at the mercy of an uncertain, volatile and meaningless 'world market,' he said."

Mr. Polopolus said the U.S. Sugar Policy operates at no cost to the U.S. taxpayer. "Since 1934, surplus of U.S. treasury revenues over sugar policy costs have exceeded $600 million. Policy service fees generate approximately $30 million annually for the federal government. In addition, the federal government collects tariffs on imported sugar."

"Contrary to many press reports and misinformation

widely circulated, domestic sweetener producers do not receive government gifts or grants under the sugar policy for producing or marketing sugar and corn sweeteners. The so-called 'sugar subsidy' is purely a myth," he said.

He also told the committee that the price of sugar has been reasonable and stable for over a decade and when adjusted for inflation, the real price of sugar has fallen over the same period.

"The loan rate for sugar has been set at the minimum level of 18 cents per pound for sugar cane growers since 1985. Thus, sugar growers have had to increase their production and processing efficiency over the past decade in order to survive in a market environment of decreasing real prices."

Copies of the testimonies were taken back to Washington by those House Agricultural members present so the full committee can study them before making their decisions on farm policy.

Two arrested for burglary

An officer who stopped to question two suspicious men in the 2400 block of N.E. Avenue L, Belle Glade later arrested both for burglary to a business and grand theft.

Patrolman Michael Debetta stopped to question the two men about 12:30 a.m. April 27, as they were walking on Airport Road. Wesley Ray Dorle, 20 of Belle Glade and a 17-year-old juvenile told Officer Debetta their car had broken down in the 200 block of N.E. Avenue L. Officer Debetta drove to where the men's car was parked and began checking the area. He found eight new ties hidden in the bushes near the auto.

Patrolman Debetta and Officer Michael Triplett investigated and found that the ties had been stolen from vehicles at Glades Ford at 525 N.W. Avenue L.

The ties were valued at about $1,000. When questioned, Dorle and the juvenile confessed to stealing the ties. They were charged with burglary to a business and grand theft. The juvenile was released to his parents and Dorle was taken to the Palm Beach County Jail without bond.

Please, stop parking on the grass

I'm calling concerning Glades Pioneer Park. I'm a frequent walker out there and it's a very lovely park and I'd like to know why the park service does not have up signs saying "Do not park on grass?"

When you walk you have vehicles parked all on the side, sometimes on the walk. With so many parking spaces out there I think it's a shame that they have to mess up this beautiful park because the drivers of these cars and pick-up trucks are too lazy or their cars are too good to park in the parking lot.

We have a state trooper who lives out there and many times we have sheriff's officers who park out there, I guess on breaks, but no one gives these people a parking ticket.

I pay taxes as well as other people pay taxes and those who can't use the parking lots should be made to pay a fine.

I'd like a reply from the parks and recreation department. I would like them to put up, "Do not park on the grass" signs and then if people disobey these signs, they should be fined. I hope I can get a reply in next week's paper.

Bill Openhaw, supervisor of the parks department responds: "At the entrance of every park in Palm Beach County is a sign saying 'No swimming, parking in designated areas only...etc.' The sheriff's department has been called many times and have responded and written tickets to violators."

I spoke again with the sheriff's department and they said they will be patrolling this park more frequently and issuing citations to those who park on the grass. These parks belong to the people and we want everyone to enjoy them."

Here's an idea

I'm calling about the fact that the new Winn Dixie needs a traffic light so badly. I have a possible solution to the problem.

Since Christian Day School has merged with Glades Day School, the traffic light that is on the corner right by the First Baptist Church, is not needed.

Why couldn't they move that light, which is now being used as a caution light, out to the Winn Dixie as a new red light?

If they needed someone to direct traffic on Sunday morning in front of the First Baptist Church, perhaps a police officer could be dispatched during the hours of church, and we would have that new light we need so badly out in front of the new Winn Dixie. Thank you."

Belle Glade Chief of Police/Director of Public Safety, Michael Miller responds:

To the caller who "Had an idea", your idea is not a new one. It has been recommended several times in the past, however, we must consider the following factors:

1. Glades Day School, West Campus, is still operational with over 100 students.
2. This intersection also serves Glades Central Community High School and Belle Glade Elementary School.

3. I am not an engineer, but informed sources advised me that the traffic control device in question will not be suitable for installation in front of Big Lake Plaza and those elements that might be suitable represent only a small fraction of the estimated cost. Please be assured that the City of Belle Glade is pursuing every avenue to complete the permitting, engineering, installation and activation of a traffic device in front of Big Lake Plaza.

Note: to my knowledge, the First Baptist Church has neither needed nor requested traffic control on Sunday morning.

Tragedy in Oklahoma redefines meaning of National Day of Prayer

By Rev. Jean Ingram
Pastor of the Church of God of Prophecy
Belle Glade

It happened so close to the Easter event, Christians were praising God in song and prayer. The sting of the sin of death was swallowed up the victory with or Lord's resurrection! But soon after the Easter trumpet, a bomb ripped through a federal building in Oklahoma City.

Our entire nation watched in horror as babies and young children were carried out of the rubble. Seven hundred injured and likely over 100 dead. We mourn the loss and try to identify with those who were suffering.

The tragedy for me redefined the meaning of national prayer. This was not a calendar event, no special annual tribute to God. Our entire country, with its anger, empathy, and disbelief joined in prayer over national television.

Led by President Bill Clinton, Dr. Billy Graham and other leaders, we all bowed before the Lord. We turned to God in the midst of need acknowledging His sovereignty over all of life. The faithful knew that prayer would create unity, solidarity, and new hope.

This outpouring of prayer is precisely what was so prevalent in the old testament. Nehemiah was governor of Canaan when God's people were returning from Babylonian captivity. Nehemiah is greatly grieved because the walls are burned and the city wide open to enemies' attack. For several days, Nehemiah records that he mourned, fasted and prayed before the God of heaven.

Nehemiah depended on God for strength and inspired God's people to see the trouble they were in and to rise up and rebuild the walls of Jerusalem. It was his prayer life that enabled him to affirm "this God of heaven will give us success."

Our Lord Jesus, our example in prayer, taught us the importance of prayer. He focused on

Ask Dr. Boltson

Dr. David Boltson is the associate director of the Western Palm Beach County Mental Health Clinic in Belle Glade, and is a licensed psychologist in private practice in Lake Worth.

As a health professional, I don't maintain a positive stance towards an industry that encourages and promotes dangerous and dirty habits.

As always in this column however, I espouse the notion that our society will be better off when individuals take responsibility for the actions they do. If Chiles wants to sue anyone, maybe he should sue poor people who smoke. Aren't they violating the public trust more than tobacco companies? If they are in such dire straits that they seek to receive financial assistance from the government, aren't they being very harmful to their families and selves by spending their limited dollars on cigarettes, instead of on food, clothing, books for their children or other necessities?

Should we sue Harley-Davidson, because some people get killed while riding motorcycles? Should we sue cement companies because people get killed while walking on roads? Should we sue sneaker companies? After all, if sneakers didn't exist, people wouldn't walk away from their houses onto roads where they might get killed!

I believe that suing tobacco companies should be construed as just as ridiculous as the aforementioned examples. The fact is, that people have known for decades that smoking is bad for their health. It may well be true that there are "negative influences" out there. The tobacco companies may very well be considered as such. The entity that should have bottom line responsibility for what a person does, however, should be the person him or herself. If you decide to do stupid things, then you should try to stop doing them, before you blame someone else.

(NOTE: The state senate this week has announced that they want to repeal the law that would allow tobacco companies to be so easily sued.)

It's your fault that I do what I do

Last year the Florida Senate voted in favor of a law that Governor Chiles is trying to use to sue tobacco companies. Chiles wants to hold the tobacco companies liable for medical costs that the state has paid for people on Medicaid who smoke. Yes, you heard that right. He wants the tobacco companies to pay for the (tobacco-related) medical costs of poor people who choose to smoke.

Before I continue my diatribe, let me state that I am very much against smoking. I believe it is a stupid, harmful, dirty, and pointless habit. I also believe that people should be allowed to engage in stupid habits as long as they don't harm others. I am not a supporter of the tobacco industry.

World Red Cross Day - a time to remember what the Red Cross has done

By Heather Love
Director of the American Red Cross
West County Service Center

May 8, 1995 is World Red Cross Day, and as we sit in the wake of national and world-wide disasters, remember what the Red Cross has done during those times. We provided food, clothing, shelter, welfare inquiries for families. We fed those who turned out in droves to volunteer their time and effort along with the victims who had no where to go. And when the victims of these disasters had a chance to rebuild, we helped with the essentials to furnish their new home, and gave them hope for a new beginning.

None of this would have been possible without the outpouring of support both with financial contributions, and the volunteering of time from the country, state and local community. For this support we thank you.

Now for one brief moment we would like for you to put yourself in the place of someone who just lost their home, and all of their dreams to a fire. Although it may not make the 6 o'clock news, it is just as devastating as losing everything in a flood, hurricane, earthquake, or tornado, and the Red Cross is still there providing the same food, shelter, clothing and other items needed to rebuild a life.

On May 8, we as American citizens and supporters of the Glades community need to remember that the Red Cross doesn't stop working when the disaster quits making the headlines.

We continue 365 days a year, 24 hours a day. Those same financial contributions and volunteer hours that helped during Hurricane Andrew, the Mid-west floods, the California fires and earthquakes, and yes, even the devastating bombing of the Oklahoma City federal building, are needed year round.

When you sit and watch the news and you see a disaster and you wonder "what can I do to help?" call your West County Service Center, make a financial contribution, volunteer your time. It will never go to waste, and you can help your community. Remember, the Red Cross relies on you to help us help. Your financial contribution is tax-deductible and whether it's $2 or $2,000, it stays right here in the Glades. Our office is located in Belle Glade at 220 South Main Street. We would like for you to come and visit, let us tell you firsthand how we operate, or you can call us at 992-9703.

Please, the next time you see the Red Cross in the news, or out in the community, remember what we do locally, nationally, and world-wide and remember that help can't wait. Someday it could be you.

Guest Commentary

his mission. He spent 40 days in the wilderness in prayer and fasting before he set out on his ministry. He withstood the temptation from Satan and came out in the power of the spirit.

Christ, the anointed one, prayed fervently in the garden, confronted with the cross he would bear. Then he prayed the ultimate love prayer, "Father forgive them for they know not what they do."

So we approach the National Day of Prayer (today, May 4), with new understanding this year. We understand that:

1. There is power in prayer.

It caused Nehemiah to lead the people of Israel to rebuild the walls of Jerusalem. We need to call on that power for positive changes, particularly in the midst of such horror as the crumbling of buildings in Oklahoma City. As Dr. Billy Graham said, we need to bind our wounds and acknowledge God as Lord of all.

2. There is "connected love" in prayer as Jesus gives us, through the Holy Spirit, the grace to love others regardless of race or class.

A few months ago, I visited and prayed with a man in intensive care, comatose from an automobile accident. He was not a member of our church, but we prayed and faith worked by love. Within several weeks, he became conscious and a relationship was established. I continued to visit and I recall him saying, "I'm not much for praying...I haven't been to church for years...but, Lord, forgive my sins...save me." To me he said "I believe you are my pastor...you were there when I didn't even know anything." He grabbed my hand, we cried together.

3. As members of the body of Christ, God hears our prayers for those who suffer. Whether in Rwanda, Bosnia, or Oklahoma City. On this National Day of Prayer, let us recognize the potential unity we can create.

Christ created unity in his suffering on the cross for all people. We are called to carry his cross. Prayer is the enabler.

I have experienced unity, power and connected love at the churches of Belle Glade and surrounding areas worked fervently towards the Glades Jim Wilson Real Life Crusade. God is rewarding in this inter-denominational revival effort this week, April 30-May 4 at Belle Glade, Glades Central Gymnasium.

Isaiah the prophet spoke of my hopes and prayer. "The wolf shall dwell with the lamb and the leopard will lie down with the goat and a little child will lead them."

Let's Pray!

The Wizard of Oz was performed by students in Michael Strauss' first grade class at Glades Day School on April 25 and 26 in the school's Tripp Hall. Shown are some of the performers.

Everglades Regional Medical Center awarded accreditation from the Joint Commission

On April 5, 1995 Everglades Regional Medical Center received notice of achievement of a three year accreditation from the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations as a result of its demonstrated compliance with the Joint Commission's nationally recognized health care standards.

Formed in 1951, the Joint Commission is dedicated to improving the quality of the nation's health care through voluntary accreditation. The Joint Commission's three-day on-site survey of Everglades Regional Medical Center occurred in January.

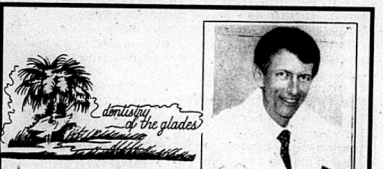

Joint Commission's national standards are intended to achieve the highest level of performance possible, reduce patient risk for undesirable outcomes and create an environment for continuous improvement. "The community should be proud that Everglades Regional Medical Center is focusing on these standards to meet a very challenging goal - to continuously raise quality to higher levels," says John Clem, director, Hospital Accreditation Services, Joint Commission.

Don Anderson, chief executive officer, spoke of his pride in a staff whose members continually strive to improve the quality of patient care by asking what needs to be done to be accredited by the Joint Commission. "In addition, they appreciate the educational aspect of the survey and the opportunity to interact with the team of surveyors."

He called the accreditation, "proof of an organization-wide commitment to the community to provide quality care on an ongoing basis. We view obtaining Joint Commission accreditation as another step toward excellence."

White Teeth, Anyone?

If you would like to brighten your smile, there are some options. One way is to change your lipstick shade. According to Redbook Magazine, "warm-shaded lipsticks are more flattering than others for a whitening effect." Another option would be to come to our office and let us change the shade of your teeth. Yellowed or stained teeth can be whitened by a personalized process we do at our office. A customized tray that fits over your teeth is filled with our lightening gel. That tray is worn a few hours each day until your teeth are as white as you like. Some people even sleep with their tray in - the trays are comfortable! Our office only recommends our product because we know it works. We guarantee customer satisfaction. Over the counter whiteners often fail to cover the teeth the shade you want, our office doesn't recommend those products. If you'd like to WHITEN your smile, there are some options. Call our office for details.

Sick boy receives donated puppy

A young boy's last wish was granted by the caring staff of the Animal Care and Control Division of Palm Beach County. One of the Golden Glades Team's patients is a young boy who desperately wanted to have a puppy. Through the joint efforts of the Hospice team and Dennis Moore and Brenda Konecni of the Animal Care Division, the dream came true and his quality of life was improved by his new friend.

Hospice of Palm Beach County, Inc. provides a full range of services to persons with a life-limiting illness and no other resources.

their families. The team approach, through physicians, nurses, nursing assistants, social workers, pastoral care staff and volunteers, addresses the physical, emotional and spiritual needs of the patient and family. Extra efforts are made to enhance the quality of life - from putting a washing machine in a home, to reuniting families, to bringing a puppy into a child's life.

For more information about Hospice of Palm Beach County services, volunteer opportunities, or to schedule a speaker for your group, call 996-1285.

Only four weeks of school left! That's the word most frequently heard as teachers and students enter the home stretch of this year at Lake Country. Progress reports went out last week and reminded everyone that there is still work to do.

Congratulations to this year's Science Fair Winners:

K-4 and K-5
first place - Marcus Hunter, second place - Jamie Fullwood, third place - Caleb Hattton

First and Second
first place - Gabbie Hattton, second place - Alyssia Jaume, third place - Phillip White;

Third and Fourth
first place - Tommy Burroughs, second place - Frances Beulan, third place - Nina Willis

All the students learned a great deal in the preparation of their projects, and everyone was a winner! Field Day is tomorrow at Canal Point Park. Parents are reminded to bring their children to the park in the morning rather than the school. Pick them up at the park at noon!

Our K-4 and K-5 students will be visiting the Pahokee Fire Department next Friday, May 12. It's amazing how many at this age want to be a fireman!

Registration for the next school year is continuing. Remember, we will be having fifth and sixth grades, and there is a $50 discount for those registering before June 1. All interested parents are encouraged to call Tanya Willis at 924-7133, or stop by the school, 225 Bacom Point Rd., Pahokee.

Captain Trash Buster

Beautification Committee giving free paint to businesses

Eveline Proscott posed as Captain Trash Buster during the Pahokee Pride Clean-Up Campaign held recently. St. Mary's Catholic Church received a $25 prize for the Most Participants in the campaign. Concerned Citizens received a $50 prize for the Most Improved Area.

Others who participated include CYCI, Pahokee Garden Club, Pahokee Woman's Club, city commissioners, Pahokee

Post Office staff, and many other individuals.

In an on-going effort to give Pahokee a facelift, the Beautification Committee is offering free paint to the businesses in the downtown area. Businesses needing a coat of paint are urged to visit the Pahokee Chamber of Commerce, 115 E. Main St., and complete an application. The telephone number is 924-5579.

Hospice is always searching for volunteers

Over 40 residents of the Glades community are involved with Hospice of Palm Beach County as volunteers. These dedicated individuals work in the Golden Glades Hospice Resale Shop, organized the recent and very successful 'Ladies Day Out.' Make-over and Luncheon, participate in the Black Gold Jubilee, and provide support to patients and their families.

Volunteers play a significant role in the Hospice Care team, both through financial support and direct support to patients and families, serving as a new friend, visiting with the patient and family and sometimes running errands.

Caring individuals in the Golden Glades community are needed to help with the Hospice mission - quality of life for our friends, family and neighbors who are faced with the difficulties that accompany a life-limiting illness.

Training will be provided at the Golden Glades Hospice office in Belle Glade for interested individuals who want to 'be a friend' to a Hospice patient. Call 996-8839 for more information.

Rosenwald students participate in history-making in the Glades

A select group of Rosenwald's finest had the privilege to be present at the Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center to greet Lt. Governor Buddy McKay who was in the area for a meeting on the proposed sugar subsidy cuts Thursday, May 27. The throng of school children lined the center's entrance behind hand-painted signs in designated school areas cheering and/or chanting "Sugar". Lt. Gov. McKay, Congressman Thurman, and many other dignitaries warmly greeted the students by shaking hands and chatting briefly with them.

Several students were videotaped and interviewed by the host media on hand such as CNN and Channel 12.

History was made in Belle Glade and Rosenwald was a part of the event.

Head Start services could be cut if funding not available

Tammy Jackson
Staff Reporter

With 124 students presently enrolled in Lutheran Ministries of Florida, Inc. (LMF) PEPPI (Pre-School Enrichment Program with Parental Involvement), half of those students could be cut from the program if the center doesn't receive funding.

Shirley Walker, program director, said the program is funded by the Division of Human and Health Services Administration for Children and Families. However, PEPPI Head Start also receives an additional percent of its funding from CSC (Children's Services Council of Palm Beach County) which is used to supplement the budget.

According to the director, "If we don't get the funding, only 25 percent of the children will receive our services." She also said if funding is not available, operation scale backs will have to take place (number of days the center is open or the amount of hours).

CSC's ROP report states: "CSC will not fund programs for pre-school children (ages 3-5) that have more than 20 children funded through Pre-kindergarten, Early Intervention or Head Start."

Ms. Walker said she is not definite that the center will not receive funding but she is looking at the negative aspect. She said if her center does not receive funding, she is not going to wait until that time comes. She said she's starting to restructure her staff now before it is too late.

Ms. Walker also said if funding is not provided, not only will it affect the children, staff members will also be affected. "We won't just lose positions, but a lot of these people have families and their families will be in jeopardy.

To become enrolled at PEPPI, children must meet income guidelines. The program also accepts children who have been referred to the program through Health and Rehabilitative Services and students with specific disabilities.

The staff also works with the families of the children in providing health and dental care. Ms. Walker said if the child does not receive Medicaid, a staff member actively involves themselves in helping the family to receive Medicaid benefits. She said if they cannot receive that benefit, other types of medical insurance will be researched. If there is no success in this area, Ms. Walker said LMF will step in and pay for medical/dental care for the children.

The present staff consists of 21 personnel. There are six teachers and seven teacher's assistants working with the students on a daily basis. A social worker is available, as well as a parent involvement coordinator and a health coordinator. Salaries range from $13,000 per year to $49,000 per year.

The center looks to expand its operation in approximately 30 days when a new center is opened in Belle Glade. The program director said the new facility will allow for children of working parents to attend school full-time rather than half a day. An additional 30 slots could become available when the new center opens its doors.

Persons or businesses wishing to make financial contributions to PEPPI are asked to contact Ms. Walker at 996-1718.

The CSC will present a formal decision to PEPPI on July 3.

Doveland Villas offers "very affordable rents"

This is a classic example of how public and private monies can be brought together to bring an affordable and attractive housing complex into being," said John Brown, executive director of NOAH (Neighbors Organized for Adequate Housing Inc.), when he speaks about the 3-year-old Doveland Villas located in unincorporated Palm Beach County near Pahokee.

The complex was constructed with $3.65 million dollars from the SAIL Loan Program, Florida Housing Finance Agency, County Commission of Affordable Housing and Palm Beach County Housing and Community Development. Owned by NOAH Development Corporation, 80 percent of the residents are farm-workers.

Featured are one, two and three-bedroom apartments which are equipped with basic appliances. Each apartment has one bathroom and rental fees range from $275 per month for a one-bedroom unit, to $380 per month for a three-bedroom unit. Mr. Brown said if someone is interested in moving into Doveland Villas, special arrangements can be made for those who are experiencing difficulty in "coming up with the security deposit and the first-month rent."

He also said all security deposits are kept in an interest-bearing account. If no damage (beyond normal wear and tear) is done to the unit, the renter is eligible to receive their deposit back plus any interest that it accrues.

A full-time maintenance staff is on site, and the apartment manager lives on site as well. Also featured is a residents association, and the office is manned by volunteers.

Doveland Villas is located off of U.S. Highway 441. Persons interested in living at the complex are asked to call 924-9600.

Glades Ford

525 N.W. Avenue "L",

Pizza Express opens in Belle Glade

Tom and Jonnie Wheeler have opened a new pizza business, Pizza Express at 301 West Canal Street North, Belle Glade, next to Royals Furniture. The business opened three weeks ago and offers pizza with all the fixings from 4 to 9 p.m. daily with special hours for those planning events.

Mrs. Wheeler said she is not new to the area, having lived here for many years before moving. She is the former Jonnie Ward and previously owned Merle Norman Cosmetics. Her husband, Tom, said they decided to open a business here because Jonnie was well-known in the area and he loves to cook. "This pizza is cooked old-world style with all hand-tossed, sour dough bread," said Mr. Wheeler. He said there are a couple of secrets to his recipe, which new employees are being taught.

Teaching them is Layne Kelly, a nephew of Mrs. Wheeler, who owns a similar pizza parlor in Carthage, Miss. Pizza Express is a chain of independently-owned franchises established in 25 locations in the south and now moving further south.

Mr. Wheeler said he has hired several local youth and plans to have a staff of 10 to 12 people soon. "We hire kids who are winners here," he said. "If they're students, they must maintain good grades. We're teaching them how to do it right, and if it's not right we'll fix it for the customer," he added.

The owners say they use only fresh ingredients and the sauce is a special recipe, "plus, it's important to note that we use a brick oven for cooking," said Mr. Wheeler.

The Wheelers invite their friends and new customers to call them at 992-8700 and try the new Pizza Express.

Pahokee Elem. students to man in-school post office

Pahokee Elem. is beginning a new program called "Wee Deliver". This is an in-school post office operated by the elementary school students. Once the post office is operating, the students will be able to exchange mail with other students and staff members in the school on a daily basis.

The school has been divided into different towns and streets which establish the mail route. Each hallway is a town and each classroom, a different street. All towns and streets are named after different stars or constellations which the students have been studying.

Over the past several weeks, the students took postal exams, completed job applications, and were interviewed for various postal positions such as the postmaster, letter carrier, stamp canceller, and mail sorters. Each grade (K-6) were able to apply for a different position. Students from each grade participated in the interviews. The postmaster from the Pahokee Post Office assisted in interviewing the fifth and sixth graders. All of the students were instructed to dress for their interview.

Students have been selected to work in the post office. They will be sworn in by the postmaster of the U.S. Post Office in Pahokee. All of the students will attend the ceremony as well as school district administrators, the Mayor of Pahokee, parents and other community members.

Awards will also be presented to the winners of the stamp design contest. These stamps will be used in the school's post office and sold to the students (by the students) for 1 cent each.

According to Randi Schietz, guidance counselor, the program has generated great enthusiasm throughout the school. "We hope that the enthusiasm continues as it helps improve their reading and writing skills and teaches our students responsibility," she said.

Critically-injured trooper returns to area FHP

Tammy Jackson
Staff Reporter

Pahokee-based Florida Highway Patrol Trooper Jonathan D. Carter "will never forget Sept. 26, 1994. That is the night he, along with other troopers, were working an off-duty detail at a night club in Miami. Trooper Carter was shot in the mouth by a young male who was denied entry into the establishment because it was assumed he had a firearm on his person. When Trooper Carter and the other troopers approached the suspect, he pulled a firearm from under his shirt and fired two times.

After being in a coma for one month, numerous surgeries, and months of rehabilitation, the 31-year-old trooper is back at work. Presently, he is performing light duty, however, he said he is anxious to get back on the road.

Trooper Carter openly talks about the shooting and what he has gone through to be where he is today. He said, "It's always in the back of your mind when you put on your uniform that you're going to be shot," however, he was shocked when the actual shooting occurred.

He said he remembers being shot in the mouth with the 17-year-old suspect's 26-caliber automatic handgun. Trooper Carter said he heard shots ring out and he fell to his knees. While on his knees, he said, "I thought I had been hit in the mouth but I never thought I had been shot." He said he stood up and another trooper advised him to sit back down. He said he then noticed part of his lip was hanging and then he began to taste blood and realize he had actually been shot in the mouth.

Trooper Carter said he was conscience and he remembers Trauma Hawk landing in the parking lot of the night club. He said he even remembers talking to rescue personnel while enroute to Jackson Memorial Hospital. However, the trooper lost consciousness at the hospital.

Trooper Carter said he remained unconscious at Jackson Memorial Hospital

Florida Highway Patrol Trooper Jonathan D. Carter recently returned to work after being shot in the mouth. The shooting left Trooper Carter in the intensive care unit at Jackson Memorial Hospital, Miami, for numerous weeks. After 5 months off of work, Trooper Carter is now back at the highway patrol station in Pahokee.

for one month. He said while he was in the hospital, he learned that the bullet had entered his mouth, broke his palate, hit his voice box and then entered the back of his head. Surgery was done to remove the bullet and to reattach his lip.

After waking up, Trooper Carter said he had to learn how to do everyday tasks (feeding himself, swallowing, walking, etc.) After being discharged from a rehabilitation facility, the trooper said he went to live with his parents in Miami. While there, he said he began his own rehabilitation. "The doctors told my family that I probably wouldn't be back to my normal self for about one year," said Trooper Carter.

The trooper said he was determined to make a full recovery in a short amount of time because he was determined to gain his strength and eventually get back to work.

When the trooper learned to help himself, he said he went back to his home in Hollywood, and he is still continuing his rehabilitation. He said he is also working on reconditioning his body by lifting weights, and gaining his weight back (before the accident, the trooper weighed 195 pounds - after the shooting, he lost 80 pounds - presently, he weighs 180 pounds).

Returning to the Pahokee FHP station in February, Trooper Carter is now working the switchboard and office duties. He is hoping to be back on the road this week. The trooper said he is grateful to everyone who saw fit to send him financial support during his stay in the hospital. He said the funds assisted with his family's lodging expenses while he was in the hospital.

Trooper Carter said he is extremely grateful to Leslie Berman who sent him a $1,500 check when he heard about the accident. Trooper Carter said he didn't know Mr. Berman prior to receiving his check. Mr. Berman expressed to the trooper that he had at one time gotten into some trouble and a police officer had helped him. He told the trooper that he had vowed to one day show his appreciation of the officer in some form or another.

The trooper said when he received Mr. Berman's check, he contacted him and thanked him. He said he and Mr. Berman now communicate on a regular basis.

Trooper Carter said he was working the off-duty detail the night of the shooting because his mother had expressed a desire to go back to school. He said, "I was working because I was trying to make the extra money to send my mother to school." He proudly says, "My mother doesn't work, I take care of her." The trooper's mother is presently enrolled in school where she is studying to be a nurse.

Trooper Carter is divorced and the father of three girls, ages 16 and 9 (a set of twins).
